

Adam Singer, CPA (CA), CFE

Adam Singer started his professional career at PricewaterhouseCoopers where he obtained his Chartered Accountancy in 2006. Adam spent much of his career as a consultant in both Canada and the United States where he obtained his Certified Fraud Examiners (CFE) License as well as his qualification as a Licensed Life Professional (LLQP).

Adam founded the agency Singer Steinberg in 2016 with a vision of helping clients of all shapes and sizes with their Group Benefit plan needs while adding additional value by supporting companies with all employee related programs, policies and processes.

Currently Adam manages over 100 client accounts and in various business sectors including; technology, manufacturing, education and professional services. In addition to helping client's in Canada, Adam liaises the set up and growth of company benefits plans in the United States, United Kingdom and other various countries.